A Government Order Against Old Whisky Barrels Explained.

IT HITS AND HURTS THE WEST.

A Matter of $6,000 in Its Effect on Western Pennsylvania.

ENORMOUS RESPONSIBILITY FOR TAX

Commissioner of Internal Revenue John W. Mason has issued a circular "prohibiting the refilling at distilleries of casks or packages previously used at the same distillery," and he bases his decision on section No. 3249 of the Revised Statutes, "To prescribe rules and regulations to secure a uniform and correct system of inspection, weighing, marking and gauging of spirits." The Commissioner thinks that the practice of reusing barrels results in great loss of revenue to the Government, because the repeated removal of the marks, stamps and brands from the heads soon renders them so thin that the calibers will not indicate the true length, while the removal of bungs depresses and flattens the bung staves so that the rod will not indicate a true mean diam-

As whisky is manufactured in large quantities in Western Pennsylvania, and many barrels are used, Chief Deputy H. J. Mitchell, at the Internal Revenue office, asked for an approximate estimate of the loss to the distilleries in this district the enforcement of the new law would entail.

A VERY SMALL MATTER. "It won't be much." be replied, "for the reason that probably not more than ten distillers in this district reuse the barrels, and they are the small manufacturers who sell the whisky by the gallon. These men keep on hand from one to 300 barrels, and at the farthest the number of barrels to be replaced would not be more than 3,000 a year, A new barrel costs about $2, so that the pecuniary loss would not be more than $6,000 in the district. This money will come out of the people, as they have to pay for everything, anyhow. The distillers can easily make up the extra expenditure in reduring the cider season, each barrel will bring $1.50. The loss in the end, therefore, is not much.

"All the heavy manufacturers in the district never reuse the barrels. They usually store their whisky in the bonded warehouses for the three years allowed by law. The average number of years required for refining whisky is two. The number of packages kept by the makers in these store-tailing the whisky. Old whisky barrels make first-class receptacles for cider, and, rooms range from 1 to 40,000. ENGRMOUS RESPONSIBILITY. "By the way, the report for June shows that at that time there were 7,987,616 tax-able gallons on hand in the district, and the tax amounts to $7,188,854 40, for which the collector is responsible. You fellows get an idea sometimes that we don't do much down here, and there is not much responsibility connected with the business. These figures show what we are doing. This is a big lot of whisky, and usually not more than 6,000,000 gallons are kept in the warehouses. The reason is that during the spring the manufacturers were afraid that prohibition might pass, and they worked the distilleries to their full they worked the distilleries to their full capacity. Under the law they would have had three years in which to get rid of it at good prices, if prohibition had carried. The number of gallons made is increasing, and I don't believe the supply on hand will fall again much below the figures given.

"The new law will affect principally the manufacturers of high wines and spirits from corn in Indiana and Illinois. They generally sell it for chemical purposes, in net the liquid is almost pure alcohol.

act the liquid is almost pure alcohol. They seldom store it for any great length of time, and so reuse the barrels. But the law will not affect distillers to any great extent

Mr. Frank, of the Revenue office, suggested that new barreis will absorb considerable whisky, and the Government will lose anyhow.

FROM A PROMINENT DISTILLER. Emanuel Wertheimer, of Guckenbeimer & Co., said: "The order issued from Washington, which makes it compulsory on the distillers to use new barrels, will not affect Pennsylvania. It will, however, affect the high wine, or spirit distilleries in the West, for they have been in the habit of using the barrels several times. We have used, and I believe every reputable distillery uses, new barrels. The difference would be so small that it would be of no advantage to rebuy the old barrels from the wholesaler. The reason the order was issued was that the refilling casks and a proper gauge cannot be ascertained. It might be a fractional gain to the distillers to use old barrels, because they could buy the old ones back packages; the constant hammering of bungs into the packages tends to knock the cask OUT OF SHAPE, and it is possible, in a cask which contains and it is possible, in a case which contains 45 gallons, to measure 44 or 44½ gallons proper by the Government gauging rule. We think it will have a tendency to reduce the profits in the distilleries that have been using old barrels, and also give a little boom to the cooperage trade. In our trade it absolutely has no possible bearing."

Overholt & Co. stated that they would from the wholesalers, 25 to 50 cents cheaper, not use an old barrel under any considera-tion. They believed the Government's netion mainly aimed at suppressing small dis-tilleries, that sold whisky in old barrels to save a little difference to the wholesaler.

COULD NOT HANG HIM.

After Being Sentenced to Death a Murderer

Now Goes Free. SAN FRANCISCO, August 16 .- Dr. J. Milton Bowers was convicted in this city in 1886 of poisoning his wife in order to obtain insurance on her life amounting to about $17,000, and was sentenced to be hanged. He took an appeal to the Supreme Court of the State, and on October 23, 1887, before that tribunal had rendered a decision, the dead body of Henry Benhayon, a brother of Bowers' wife was found in a room in this city. A letter was found purporting to be the con-fession of Benhayon that he, and not Dr. Bowers, was the cause of his sister's death. Circumstances led to the suspicion that the confession was forged and that Benhayon was murdered, John A. Dimming being the latter's murderer, but he was acquitted. A book agent was arrested on suspicion.

The Supreme Court afterward granted Bowers a new trial. To-day, before Judge Wallace, the District Attorney moved for a dismissal of the case on the ground that not enough evidence could be secured to convict. The Judge accordingly dismissed the case, and Bowers was discharged from custody, after having been imprisoned in the County Jail for over three years.

PEPECIAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATCH. YOUNGSTOWN, August 16 .- Elwood Singleton, salesman in the employ of the Metropolitan Installment Company here, was arrested this afternoon the instance of the manager of the company charged with embezzlement. Singleton has been employed two weeks and it is alleged has sold articles taken out by him for cash, appropriated the proceeds and returned fictitious contracts with spurious names attached to them.

The prisoner stated that his home was in Allegheny, Pa., and that his wife and chil-dren resided on Federal street.

GOFF STILL AHEAD.

The End of the Contest Proceedings in West Virginia Drawing Very Near-Allegations of Fraud Not Sustained-It Was a Fair Election. .

WHEELING, August 16 .- The special committee of the Legislature which has been in session for four months past, examining the depositions in the Gubernatorial contest, will to-morrow complete reading the evidence from all the counties except two, Mercer and McDowell. The investigation so far has developed one important fact and that is that the election in this State, all and that is that the election in this State, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding, was a singularly fair one. No genuine frauds have been discovered, and of the several hundred votes attacked as illegal, a very small proportion, scarcely one-tenth, have been thrown out, and 'these only upon technical grounds—Judge Fleming, the Democratic contestant, did not allege in his notice of contest, fraud or corruption, but only attacked Goff's majority as being the result of a large number of technically illegal votes, which he alleges were cast.

The investigation has shown that in nearly all cases these votes were cast by men who all cases these votes were cast by men who thought they had the right to vote, and that there was no intentional fraud. The stories about the colonization of voters have not been sustained, as the committee has no evidence of such fraud, and it is not known that any has been offered General Goffer planning as the offered. General Goff's plurality, so far as the investigation has gone, has not been wiped out and with the two counties yet to be read he still has the advantage of about 50 votes, his original pluralty having been Scarcely an intentionally dishonest vote npon either side has been discovered, and the illegal ones will not average six to a county. The result of the investigation and the examination of several thousand deposi-tions shows that to all intents and purposes the voting was fair and honest. This has no reference whatever to the allegations of fraud on the part of returning boards after the votes were cast, and which only effected the election for Congressmen. It is upon these allegations that the three contestants for seats in Congress base their claims. The Legislative committee has not gone into this matter.

DESERTED HIS DYING WIFE,

And Stole $5,000 of Her Money to Pay the Expenses of His Elopement. LOUISVILLE, KY., August 16 .- James Miller, for many years an engineer on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, has eloped with Sallie Whittingham, a pretfy 18-year-old girl. He deserted a sick wife, who is almost out of her mind with grief. The girl left a widowed mother, who is greatly distressed, and two brothers, who swear they will kill Miller on sight.

swear they will kill Miller on sight.

Miller has of late been running on the new Louisville, St. Louis and Texas road, and terminated his run every trip just opposite the girl's home. Though married five years ago to the well-to-do widow of a saloon keeper, and having a 4-year-old child to make his home happy, Miller began firting with the girl, and was soon on intimate terms with her. He came in from a run ing with the girl, and was soon on intimate terms with her. He came in from a run last Sunday, and all that day and the next appeared nervous. He kissed his wife, whom the doctors pronounced seriously ill on Monday afternoon, and told her he thought she would be better by the time he got back from his run, told his baby goodby, and left ostensibly for the depot.

He went to the bank and drew $5,000 which his wife had made over to him at their marriage. At 6 o'clock that evening he and Miss Whittingham started out for a stroll together and have never returned. The last seen of them they were boarding

The last seen of them they were boarding the ferry for Jeffersonville, where it is sup-posed they were married and went West. The first Mrs. Miller heard of the affair was on Tuesday evening, when Charles and Harry Whittingham, the girl's brothers, stood at her door with drawn pistols de-manding to see Miller, who they said had abducted their sister.

MUST NOT EXCEED THE LIMIT.

Pension Agents Must Discharge Clerks to Keep Within the Appropriation.

WASHINGTON, August 16 .- Prior to the beginning of the present fiscal year there were many complaints from the various pension agencies alleging that the allowances for clerk hire were inadequate and ances for clerk fire were inacequate and that the force of clerks was insufficient to properly conduct the business of the agencies. Congress appropriated only $178,000 for the payment of clerks to pension agents during the present fiscal year. Commissioner Tanner, with a view to removing the cause of complaints, authorized various pension agents to increase their force of clerks, not-withstanding the fact that such increase would swell the amount of expenditures beyond that contemplated by Congress. Secretary Noble, however, came to the conclusion that it was not proper to create a deficiency and issued a circular August 8 directing pension agents to reduce their force to such an extent as would bring the expenditures within the appropriation for the current fiscal year. The various agents the current uscal year. The various agents throughout the country have accordingly dismissed the clerks they employed under Commissioner Tanner's directions and have also in some cases laid off a few regular of pensions is approaching, and it is leared that the reduction in force will cause some delay in the payment of pensions.

Mary Lynch Captures a Chicken Thief in Her Employer's Hennery.

TRUMBULL, CONN., August 16,-Two nights ago Mary Lynch, a pretty girl, who lives in the family of Almond E. Plumb, heard an unusual noise in the back yard. It was late and the farmer had retired for the night. Mary turned down the lamp and stole softly out of the back door. She walked toward the chicken house, whence came the noise, and found the door partly open. There was sufficient light for her to see a tall man inside, and he was so busy taking down the plump hens from their high perch and stowing them away in a meal bag that he did not notice Mary's approach. She did not scream, but after she had put her arms around the thief and held him in a grip like a vise she hollered loud enough to be heard a mile. Mr. Plumb came to the rescue as soon as he could collect himself and put his trousers on, and Mary turned over her prisoner to the owner of the hens. His gripi was not like that of the muscular Mary, however, and by a few twists and turns the thief managed to es-

A MATTER OF $150,000

That's What Contractor McKee Says of the Weldin Building.

THE WORK RESUMED YESTERDAY.

Opinions of Various Interested Parties as to the Damages.

THE CITY ATTORNEY'S LITTLE POINTER

As was foretold in yesterday's Dis PATCH, work has been resumed on the Weldin buildings on Wood street and Diamond alley. Operations had been suspended there since the middle of July, but now they will be pushed till everything is completed.

Contractor Davis was seen in the buildings, but he could not tell anything about the matter. All he knew was that he had been ordered to go on with the work, and he was not aware of what had caused the

As Mr. Gregg, owner of the buildings, was out of the city, a call was made on John R. Gregg, a son. While he hinted that he knew all about the matter, he refused to talk, simply saying that, if the proper damages were refused, there would be has charge of the work."

Contractor McKee was seen, and consented to talk. "No special reason," he said, "has urged us to recommence work on our buildings. We stopped work on them when we received that notice from the city, because we did not want to be hasty in anything. This matter involves about $150,000, and while we are personally of the opinion that if we completed the buildings the city would be responsible for the whole amount when the Diamond alley ordinance is carried into effect, still we did not want to stir in the matter without legal advice.

"Our contract for the work was made before the city adopted that ordinance, and no notification of any kind could affect the legality of the ordinance. It is true the city practically ordered us to stop; but I do not see that they had any right whatever to issue such an order. This is all there is in the matter.

SURE TO GET DAMAGES.

"I do not anticipate any trouble what-ever with the city; but damages for any injury done to the buildings by the city are due us, and we will have them." City Attorney Moreland was then seen. He had not heard of the work being recommenced on the buildings, and could not yet say what action would be taken. "You see," say what action would be taken. "You see," he said, "we will go right on in the course we have adopted, until we are stopped by some legal process. I do not, however, anticipate any trouble. I have not studied the matter closely as yet; but my personal opinion is that the city will be fully responsible for whatever damage is done to the Weldin building by the widening of Diamend willow."

The Board of Viewers yesterday sent out notices to the property holders along Diamond street that on Monday, August 26, the Board will visit the ground and will re-ceive claims for damages caused by the widening of the street.

Below we point out a few of our bargains. Read them and remember that they don't represent one-
